

Neonatal Transport Team

Teresa Ball
Nurse

Jerilynn Beattie
Nurse

Laci Darby
Nurse

Kaila Durham
Nurse

Brittany Hruska
Nurse

Kelly Johnson
Nurse

Shelby Nelson
Nurse

Amy Osborn
Nurse

Kristy Oswald
Nurse

Nancy Woestman
Nurse

Angela Zeutenhorst
Nurse

What is the Neonatal Transport Team?

The Blank Children's Neonatal Transport Team features highly-trained and experienced nurses who provide specialized and expert care for ill infants. Our team works to stabilize the infant's condition prior to traveling while the nurse is in communication with the neonatologists. Ongoing communication is provided to the parents and referring facility until the family can be reunited with their infant.

Neonatologists

Samir Alabsi, MD
Medical Director

Ranjani Ananth, MD

Lindsey Koele-Schmidt, MD

Hamzah Miltaha,
M.D., F.A.A.P.

Claire Murray, DO

K. Alanna Rice, MD

Bradley Riley, MD

What is a Neonatologist?

A Neonatologist is a physician that is specially trained to care for premature and sick newborns. They direct the care for infants in the Neonatal Intensive Care Unit (NICU).

Your Child's Care

The Neonatologist will work alongside a Neonatal Nurse Practitioner (NNP), Resident Physicians and other medical specialists to provide care specialized to your child's needs. The Neonatologist will manage the care of your child during their hospitalization. Once your child is discharged from the hospital, your child's care will be managed under a primary care physician that you have chosen.

When will I see the Neonatologist?

There is a Neonatologist in the hospital 24/7. The NICU team consists of Neonatologists, Neonatal Nurse Practitioners, and Resident Physicians. A member of the provider team will do an evaluation on your child every day and make adjustments to their care as needed. Daily rounding will be done for each child. During daily rounding, one of the providers will discuss your child's care with you.

You may see one or more of our neonatologists during your stay. They all work together to provide the best care possible while you are here.